“At the edge of Borneo’s vast rainforest, Kéria rescues a baby orangutan found in the palm plantation where her father works. At the same time, her young cousin Selaï seeks refuge with her family, fleeing the conflict that opposes his nomadic people to the logging companies. Kéria, Selaï, and Oshi, the baby orangutan, will fight together to protect the endangered native forest – a fight that also takes Kéria on a journey to uncover the truth about her roots.”

Join Liverpool and Manchester Friends of the Earth for a screening of the film Sauvages and an introduction to Friends of the Earth's Planet Over Profit campaign, fighting for a new law that would require UK companies to prevent harm to communities and the environment in their supply chains.
